

PSS Flexi Secondary School's self-study after-school self-study version is online!

In order to help students improve their academic English in their spare time, ASC Language School is running an after-school self-study course for middle school academic English learners, which is suitable for all people who want to improve their academic English after class or in their spare time, especially for:

- Students who are studying in secondary schools inside or outside Australia, or are planning to study in Australia, and hope to use their spare time to improve their academic English.
- Students who are unable to participate in the real-time classes of ASC Language School and wish to complete the ASC Language School Secondary School Preparatory Academic English course according to their own schedule and learning progress.
- Parents who are accompanying students in Australia hope to use their spare time at home to improve their English proficiency, and at the same time learn about some courses in Australian secondary schools.
- Students who have a primary or intermediate level of English and wish to improve further.

When students come to study abroad, most of them will be required to pass the level of academic English first. Even students who have good grades in various subjects, can understand English film and television works, and who can speak fluently will encounter problems such as insufficient vocabulary, poor written writing, and inability to adapt to the English way of thinking.

Think about the mathematics, physics, chemistry, history, and humanities learned in middle school, all of which must be expressed in English. It is difficult to correctly understand the meaning of the questions in various homework or tests. Students need to be conscious in writing and reading. The written language for writing papers and reports is different from the spoken language. If you want to achieve good grades in middle school and successfully enter your desired university major, the importance of basic English, especially academic English, is essential.

About the course:

The lecturer, Mr. Brenton, is a senior middle school teacher of English and humanities, with a master's degree in English education and a bachelor's degree in linguistics. He has studied in Asia and is very familiar with the learning characteristics of Asian students and English education methods. He is very passionate about language and culture and likes to help students from different countries so that they can overcome the language barrier and enter secondary school.
